Jessica Perry Autism in Black

- An employee at Sesame Communications
- Knowledgeable in marketing and building websites
- Embarked on a journey to fulfill my promise to God by following his lead

BUSINESS PROFILE

We will work with and for Black and Brown families that have children with disabilities. We will partner with community-based programs and provide services such as 1 to 1 coaching, family support groups, and teaching advocacy.

BUSINESS GOAL

To change the perspective of families that have children with autism for the better. To encourage advocacy and community partnerships. To foster and develop strong families.

Key Needs & Challenges

- Make services affordable to everyone (provide sliding pay scale)
- Need a computer to create content, design graphics & build a website

Community Impact

Fostering growth and development in our children that have disabilities will create a more positive community. My enterprise will add to the existing program within the educational system titled, "No child left behind". It will teach and reaffirm our children how valuable they are with or without a disability by enhancing cognitive development, communication, and support from the community.
